

Florence Nightingale Day 2018

October 27

The American Statistical Association (ASA) and the Caucus for Women in Statistics (CWS) are pleased to host the first annual Florence Nightingale Day. This inaugural event will be held at the Ohio State University campus as well as other locations across the country.

What: Join us for the Florence Nightingale Day to discover the opportunities for careers in statistics and data science, to do activities with data, and to develop connections.

Who: 8th to 12th grade girls from Ohio

When: October 27th from 9 am to 2:30 pm

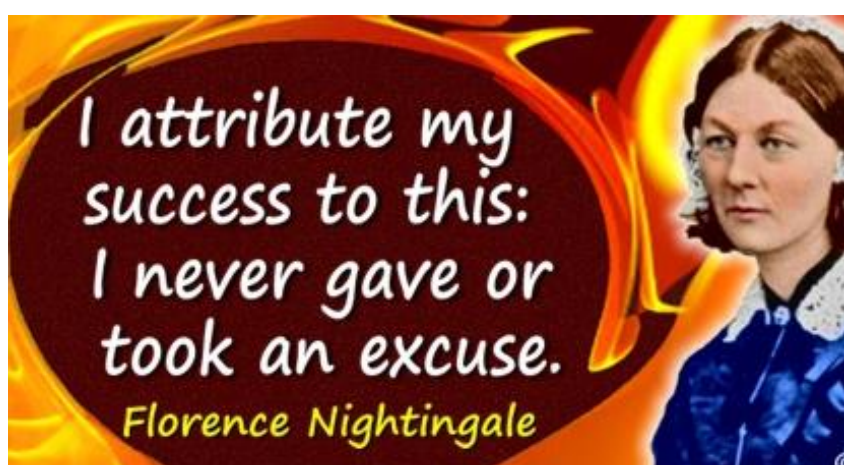

Where: The Ohio State University (Jennings Hall, MBI, 1735 Neil Ave)

We are looking for teachers who are willing to volunteer to bring a group of students to campus for the day to learn more about data science and statistics. We are also looking for volunteers to help organize and coordinate. See our website for more information: <http://bit.ly/OSUNightingale>. Space is limited, sign up soon for the opportunity to join us.

*Transportation to be provided by parents and teachers.

*Students must attend with teacher or parent.

This activity is not sponsored by the Upper Arlington City School District.

"Statistics is the most important science in the whole world... essential to all education"
~ FN