OUR PROGRAMS

The iStar Class Research Program provides an opportunity to learn how to research with instructors from elite universities, publish their research papers, earn college credits, and get letters of recommendations from the instructors.

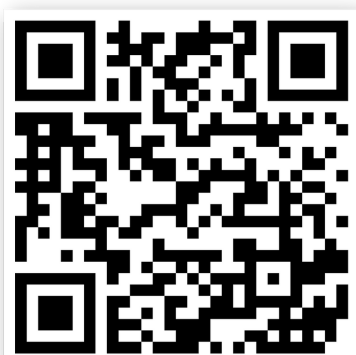

The Summer Enrichment Program is a collaborative program between IPERC and Marquette University that offers students hands-on research experience with experienced researchers in the STEM fields.

Ready Global Academy (RGA) allows students to earn high school course credits during the summer, including AP courses for exam prep, regular courses for grade remedy, or other high school course needs a student might have.

RGA also has an online College Credit Program that gives students a chance to earn Marquette University college credits for entry-level courses during the summer. These college credits are highly transferable, can enhance the students' college applications, and help students to save time and money.
